Eisenhower, Nimitz Will Head Army, Navy

Truman Names Commanders To Succeed Marshall, King; McNarney and Spruance Step Up

By WILLIAM R. SPEAR
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—President Truman designated new commanders for the army and navy today to lead the transition to peace.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

The president expressed the conviction to his news conference in the firmest possible tones that we will have permanent peace.

Eisenhower succeeds Gen. George C. Marshall as army chief of staff immediately. His nomination was sent to the Senate where confirmation appeared certain—all congressmen who commented praised the appointment. Meanwhile, he will serve as acting chief of staff.

Nimitz will replace Adm. Ernest J. King as chief of naval operations after Christmas. Meanwhile Nimitz will return to his Pacific fleet command.

McNarney Succeeds Eisenhower

Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, who commanded United States forces in the Mediterranean theater, succeeds Eisenhower as commander of United States forces in the European theater, commander-in-chief of the United States occupation forces in Germany and United States representative on the Allied Control Council for Germany. The formerly separate European and Mediterranean theaters will be combined next month.

Adm. Raymond E. Spruance, commander of the Fifth fleet, will step up to Nimitz's place as naval commander-in-chief in the Pacific.

King held the title of commander-in-chief of the United States fleet as well as chief of naval operations but the former title was abolished about two months ago in a departmental reorganization.

Both Marshall and King asked to retire immediately after the Japanese surrender. Mr. Truman reported, but he found himself unable to let them go earlier.

Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air force, and Gen. Brehon Somervell, chief of the army service forces, also have asked to retire, the president said in response to a question, but their request has not been granted.

A reporter commented that in Eisenhower and Nimitz, the president had named two commanders who differed on the proposal pending in Congress to unify the armed forces. (Eisenhower strongly favors the merger, Nimitz originally favored it but testified last week that he had altered his view.)

Truman's View Forthcoming

Mr. Truman replied that he shortly would have something to say himself on the matter and forecast with a smile that the two service chiefs would then find themselves in the same boat. It was indicated that this would be a message to Congress.

The president told newsmen he would look to let Marshall retire because he considered him the greatest military man of this or any other country. Marshall will be 65 on December 31.

Gen. Carl Spaatz has been mentioned as a likely successor to Arnold.

Marshall was acting chief of staff and stepped into the full title September 1, 1935, the day Germany invaded Poland.

Eisenhower, 55-year-old Kansan, leaped into his great prominence as leader of the Normandy invasion that was a final chapter in defeating the Axis powers.

After the peace he stayed in Germany to carry on the job of administration.

United States Population Passes 140,000,000 Mark

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The census Bureau announced today that the population of the United States passed the 140,000,000 mark about October 1.

Census Bureau Director J. C. Cappel said that on this basis, the population increased by about 8,330,725 in the five and one half years following the 1940 census. This compares with an increase of 8,894,229 during the ten years between 1930 and 1940.

B-29 Sets Nonstop Flight Record On Trip from Guam to Washington

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The United States Air Force took a seven-year old record from Britain today when a B-29 landed here after an 8,196-mile nonstop flight from Guam.

The Superfortress, stripped of armament and some battle instruments, flew the long haul in thirty-five hours and five minutes. It passed through seven storm areas and one of its four engines was intentionally stopped to conserve fuel on the run across the United States.

The British record of 7,158 miles had remained intact since two English planes flew from Egypt to Australia nonstop in 1938.

The flight ending today, third nonstop trip by Superfortresses from far Pacific areas, had two purposes, said the AAF: To demon-

NEW COMMANDERS FOR ARMY AND NAVY

PRESIDENT TRUMAN yesterday announced the retirement of Gen. George C. Marshall and the nomination of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, left, to succeed him as chief of staff, and the selection of Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, right, to succeed Fleet Adm. Ernest J. King as chief of naval operations.

Defense Counsel Fighting Spreads In Java; British Planes Attack

MANILA, Wednesday, Nov. 21 (AP)

Col. Harry Clarke, chief defense counsel, today assailed the motives of Prosecution Witnesses Joaquin Galang and Narciso Lupas as they opened the defense of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, on trial for his life accused of condoning wholesale atrocities by his Japanese troops.

Clarke produced letters which he said showed both had offered to assist American (prosecution) authorities if they were given consideration of their own cases and safe conduct out of the Philippines.

Both Galang and Lupas face trial in Philippine courts as collaborators.

Clarke said he would show that Yamashita never gave his consent for, nor ordered, atrocities and that communications were poor and he could not reach certain areas readily.

He said letters from Lupas asked the counterintelligence corps "for protection, money, supplies and for passage to New York or any other Latin American country" in exchange for testifying against Yamashita.

The defense then called Lt. Gen. Akira Muto, Yamashita's chief of staff, and began lengthy questioning of him.

Yamashita showed great composure and even smiled as the prosecution ended its case against him yesterday and the military court rejected a defense motion for acquittal.

However, the five American generals, who have heard more than 200 witnesses tell of Japanese atrocities, Yamashita is accused of having permitted, displayed considerable impatience over the time consumed by the trial—now in its third week.

U. S. FACTORIES ARE STILL MAKING ATOM BOMBS, TRUMAN SAYS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—President Truman disclosed today that America's great atomic factories are still producing history's most destructive bombs, but he held out to the world the possibility that later these bombs might be scrapped and their explosives devoted to peacetime uses.

The time when this can be done, the president made clear at a news conference, will depend on reaching a state of international security which he expressed confidence will be reached some time in the future.

Mr. Truman told newsmen he is not at all pessimistic on the final outcome of efforts to bring war under control and that he is certain we will have permanent peace in the world.

We are on the threshold of a great stage in the history of mankind, he said, and we must grasp the opportunities which it opens up; the only alternative road leads to complete destruction.

Bill To Create Housing "Czar" Is Introduced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—A bill to create a national housing "czar," who would have authority to fix price ceilings on houses, was introduced today by Chairman Patman (D-Texas), of the House Small Business committee.

The measure would authorize establishment of an office of housing stabilization, headed by a director. The bill specifies that the director would work "to prevent speculation and excessive profits in the sale of housing and to insure the availability of real estate for housing purposes at fair and reasonable prices."

Family of 11 Is Made Homeless by Fire

FREDERICK, Md., Nov. 20 (AP)—Relatives and neighbors provided temporary shelter today for a family of eleven after fire destroyed an eight-room house near Peagaville.

Robert Etele, deputy state fire marshal, said Carl Barthlow, an employee of the Fairchild Aircraft Corporation, in Hagerstown, returned home at 5:30 p. m. to find his house destroyed. His convalescent wife and their nine children staying in a barn on the property.

Neighbors and relatives found temporary shelter for the family while Red Cross and local officials attempted to find the Barthlows another home in this house-scarce city.

Gen. Patch's Condition Is Reported "Serious"

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 20 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, Jr., commanding general of the Fourth army with headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, is in Brooke general hospital suffering from pneumonia.

His condition was described late today as "very serious" by Brig. Gen. George C. Beach, commanding general of Brooke hospital center.

Admiral Feared War Would Find Navy Unprepared

Richardson Was "Amazed" by 1940 Plan To Bar Jap Ships

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Adm. J. O. Richardson testified today he heard with amazement in 1940 that President Roosevelt was considering shutting off all Japanese trade with the Americas if Japan moved against the British.

"I was amazed and I stated that the fleet was not prepared to put the proposal into effect or for the war that would result," the former commander in chief of the fleet told the joint Senate-House committee investigating Pearl Harbor.

Richardson said the Roosevelt plan, as described to him by the late Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, called for the establishment of patrol lines in the Pacific to bar Japanese ships from the Americas.

Earlier in the day Richardson declared that on a 1940 visit to Washington he got the impression that Washington was trying to bluff the Japanese and that a State department diplomat, Stanley K. Jernbeck, "was exercising a greater influence over the disposition of the fleet than I was."

Fleet Was Undermanned

He said he received this impression when he came to the capital for conferences with the president. Secretary of State Hull and others to find out more fully the fleet was kept in Hawaii against his recommendations. Richardson wanted the fleet removed to the West coast of the United States to prepare it for an emergency.

Concerning Hornbeck, former head of the Far Eastern division of the State department, Richardson wrote in his notebook:

"He is the strong man in the Far East and the cause of our staying in Hawaii where he will hold us as long as he can."

In response to questions from Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) Richardson said the fleet was in "absolutely" no condition for a war with Japan. He said the ships were undermanned and did not carry wartime supplies of ammunition.

However, when asked whether moving the fleet to the West coast would have made an attack on it "attractive" to the Japanese, he said:

"In my opinion, a Japanese fleet that could cross most of the Pacific ocean and deliver an undiscovered attack on Pearl Harbor would have been very likely able to have delivered a similar attack on Puget Sound."

Replaced by Kimmel in 1941

Richardson, who was relieved of his command in February, 1941, and replaced by Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, gave this account of the reported Roosevelt plan to bar Japanese trade from the Americas:

"On October 1940 Col. Knox, the secretary of the navy, sent me and Adm. Stark (Harold R. Stark, then chief of naval operations) to come to his office."

The secretary stated he had important information, that he had just talked to the president and the president was concerned about Japanese reaction against the British at the reopening of the Burma road scheduled for 17 October.

The secretary said that the president, in the event that the Japanese took aggressive drastic action, was considering shutting off all trade between Japan and the Americas."

Sinatra Loses Voice

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Sinatra lost his voice today and was ordered by his doctor to close his mouth for twenty-four hours to avoid serious damage to his much swooned-at vocal chords.

Dr. Irving Goldman, Sinatra's throat specialist, said the singer's voice was completely worn out and ordered him not even to speak.

Eisenhower Tells Legion He Favors Unified Service Control, Military Training

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the army's new acting chief of staff, told the American Legion tonight he favored unified control of the nation's fighting forces and a universal military training program with a minimum of one year's instruction.

The five-star general's speech at the national commander's banquet climaxed a day in which Eisenhower practically took over the third day of the twenty-seventh annual convention of the Legion.

Earlier the supreme commander of Allied forces in the European theater had received the Legion's distinguished service medal from National Commander Edward Scheibler after a tumultuous welcome to the convention hall that brought tears to the eyes of the recipient.

Tonight, the balding Eisenhower delivered in a overflowing ballroom of the Palmer House the address which he had previously announced would be "the most important of my career."

In his prepared address Eisenhower emphasized "the priceless battlefields of training," and asserted "this value has persisted during all the wars of history."

And, turning to the controversial issue of unification of the War and Navy departments, Eisenhower declared "the integration of a trained and integrated America."

"Nowhere is that integration more necessary than in our armed forces. We must not think, primarily, in terms of ground forces, naval forces, air forces. We must think in terms of co-ordinated action."

"Every consideration of efficiency, economy and progress in research demands the closest possible unity among all our fighting forces, all the way from the top to the bottom," he said. "This great and necessary purpose, I believe can be best achieved by unified control at the top."

At previous sessions of the Legion convention, top naval officials, Adm. Ernest King and Adm. Chester Nimitz had voiced opposition to the proposed merger.

"I see no incompatibility," Eisenhower told the Legionnaires "between enlisting ourselves under the banner of peace based upon international co-operation and common appreciation of human value on the one hand, and on the other, the effort to make certain that our beloved country shall not become the victim of predatory force."

"It is not a sin," he asserted, "it is a necessity. We must be strong to defend ourselves, secondly to give the necessary dignity and influence to the words of our leaders as they labor to perfect machinery by which the world may settle its difficulties locally and peacefully, rather than illegally and by force."

Top-Flight Nazis, Outwardly Calm, Hear Indictment

Fallen Leaders Will Enter Pleas of Innocence or Guilt Today

By NOLAND NORGAARD

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 20 (AP)—Twenty top-flight Nazis, once masters of Europe, sat meekly in a small oak-paneled courtroom today and listened to a five-hour recital of war crimes for which they may answer with their lives.

The fallen leaders, stripped of both their arrogance and their gaudy military trappings, were outwardly calm—some of them even appearing bored—as the 24,000-word indictment was read at the opening session of the international war crimes tribunal.

But two of them fell ill during the long day. Rudolf Hess, former No. 2 Nazi, suffered an attack of abdominal cramps during a court recess, and later Joachim von Ribbentrop, former foreign minister, collapsed and received sedatives.

Hess was able to remain in the courtroom, and doctor Karl Winter Ribbentrop would be ready for tomorrow's session when the defendants will enter pleas of innocence or guilt to charges that they waged aggressive warfare, violated the rules of war, and participated in the slaying of millions.

Defense Attacks Are Expected

It appeared likely that tomorrow's session also might bring the first defense attacks on the validity of the indictment and of the constitution of the four-power tribunal itself. Defense attorneys indicated they would seek more time to prepare their cases.

The first day's session, devoted entirely to the reading of the voluminous indictment, left still unsettled the question whether Hess or six-foot, Ernest Kaltenbrunner, former head of the dread security police, would stand trial.

The tribunal has under advisement a report of British and American psychiatrists declaring Hess is an amnesia victim and unable to conduct any real semblance of defense.

The role of Kaltenbrunner was equally obscure. Although surgeons in the American army hospital reported he would be hospitalized at least a month longer as the result of a cranial hemorrhage, the charges against him were read in court without the tribunal's indicating whether it intended to try him in absentia.

For the twenty defendants well enough to attend the trial, which the president, Judge Lord Justice Geoffrey Lawrence of Britain, described as "unique in the history of jurisprudence," this was their first reunion since the German military machine collapsed.

A Fitting Scene

And the tumbled ruins of Nuernberg, Nazi shrine city stretching for miles on every side of the court house, was a fitting setting.

Jew-baiter Julius Streicher, who seemingly ignored even the reading of the charges against him, had donned earphones to hear the German translation of the indictment only once.

Goering, in an air force marshal's uniform minus any trace of gold braid and decorations, paid no attention to him but listened attentively to the recital of charges against him.

The calmness of the fat Reichsmarshal, now diminished down to 220 pounds, was a tribute to American doctors who last summer found him a quivering drug addict who cringed in terror during a mild thunderstorm.

In most instances the prisoners gave no sign of affirmation or denial as the Nazi crimes were read. Mention of themselves as SS (elite guard) generals, however, brought almost involuntary gestures of negation from the Goering and Hans Frank, one-time overlords of Poland.

Strike of 325,000 GM Workers Looms Today

IRAN REBELS IN TEHRAN PUSH

IGNITING A NEW SPARK in the highly explosive Near East, armed members of the Separatist Democratic party, revolting against Iranian government authority in territory garrisoned by Soviet troops, are pushing along a rail line from Mianeh, which they have taken, to Tehran, capital and scene of a famed Big-Three conference. Shaded area on map indicates Iranian Azerbaijan, scene of insurgent rebellion.

Russians Order Iranian Troops Back to Tehran

TEHRAN, Nov. 20 (AP)—Russian military authorities at Kazvin today turned back an Iranian force sent from Tehran to quell separatist uprisings in Azerbaijan province, the Iranian government announced.

The four Iranian battalions, including infantrymen, motorized troops and gendarmes, were ordered to return to Tehran from Kazvin, about 100 miles northeast of the capital and a third of the way to Tabriz, Azerbaijan's largest city.

The troops were dispatched to reinforce Iranian garrisons in Azerbaijan, where seven persons were reported killed during the weekend. They were accompanied by two Americans from Col. Norman Schwarzkopf's police advisory mission to Iran.

The official announcement that Soviet authorities had stopped them gave no details.

Schwarzkopf, former head of the New Jersey state police, reported yesterday that there was violent fighting at Mianeh, an Azerbaijan railway terminus. A later government communique said the situation was calm at three other cities where uprisings had been reported.

In Moscow, the newspaper Izvestia blamed the Azerbaijan disorders on "organized reactionary landowners," and described as "slenderous" the charges that Russian trucks had supplied weapons to the Separatists.

Izvestia declared the events were "artificially inflamed" in a movement by landlords against recent meetings and elections sponsored by all classes of Iranians.

Earlier reports from Azerbaijan said weapons used by the Separatists were part of 100,000 rifles and machine guns taken from the Iranian by the Russians when Soviet troops entered Iran early in the war.

D'Alesandro Protests Against Slaughter Of 100,000,000 Hens

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—"Let the hens lay the eggs and let the people eat the eggs," said D'Alesandro (D-Md.) in a protest against the proposed slaughter of 100,000,000 hens to keep up egg prices.

"Marie Antoinette said 'let them eat cake,' when the poor cried for bread," he wrote Secretary Anderson. "You say 'let them eat hens,' when they want a continual supply of eggs."

House Group Reaches Compromise on Full Employment Measure

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—A House Expenditures subcommittee agreed late today on a substitute version of the administration's so-called "full employment" bill.

Chairman Mansasco (D-Ala.) described the new measure as a "compromise of compromises." He and other subcommittee members available declined, however, to disclose its provisions.

They said they did not want to do so until after the full Expenditures committee has acted on the proposal. It will be referred to that group next Tuesday.

Today's action broke a long stalemate on the legislation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Pfc. Ray W. Trece, Speedwell, Tenn., is the only reported survivor of a plane crash in Sicily November 9, the War department reported today. It added that twenty-four persons, including two women, may have been killed.

UAW President Issues Strike Call; All Units in 20 States Will Be Struck Simultaneously

DETROIT, Nov. 20 (AP)—Authoritative sources close to high-ranking officers of the United Auto Workers (UAW) said tonight that a general strike of 325,000 General Motors Corporation employees is to begin at 11 a. m. (EST) Wednesday.

The strategy of the union, it was learned, presumably would be to make no announcement of the actual walkouts but that an official statement would be issued once the strike was "in effect."

UAW President R. J. Thomas and other top officials of the union consulted into late hours tonight formulating the strategy to be used in the nation-wide walkout.

All General Motors units in twenty states, from the biggest auto plants to the smallest feeder units, are to be struck simultaneously, the usually reliable source said.

The strike call was issued today by Thomas after a closed meeting of the Strike Strategy committee of the union.

In Los Angeles, Eugene Judd, local UAW official, said tonight that approximately 1,200 employees in the General Motors plant in suburban South Gate would strike at the appointed hour tomorrow on the advice of a phone call from a local union member attending the union meeting in Detroit.

Men To Report as Usual

The men will report to work as usual at 7 a. m., pick up their tools and other equipment, and walk out an hour later, Judd said.

Meanwhile, the United Electric, radio and Machine Workers (CIU) with 30,000 workers in the electric division of GM, requested immediate resumption of negotiations with the company on their demands for a $2 a day wage increase.

Neil Brant, international representative on UE-CIO who sat in on the GM conference, said he had been invited to attend by UAW officials. He said he had informed these officials that the UE locals are alerted for any action that may be necessary.

Brant emphasized, however, the UE would not go on strike tomorrow with the GM locals. He added that the UE-CIO "is not a party to the UAW proposal to arbitrate the wage dispute."

Thomas's announcement climaxed a succession of rapidly-moving events which began earlier today when General Motors said it would reply on or before Friday to a union demand that wage issues be submitted to arbitration.

Deadline Had Been Set

The UAW had set 4 p. m. (EST) today as the deadline for company reply to the proposal.

The 200 delegates to the GM union of 1941 UAW, termed the company reply "a snail pace and simple, and spent little time in voting unanimously in favor of a strike."

Their recommendation was passed on to the union's six-man Strike Strategy committee, including Thomas and other top UAW officials.

They conferred briefly in a closed session before Thomas emerged to announce the strike call.

Company officials said they had been "advised unofficially" of the UAW's action, but said they would (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

AAF Flying Accidents Killed 26,000, Wrecked More Planes Than Enemy

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 20 (AP)—Flying accidents cost more than 26,000 lives in the army air forces during the war and destroyed 22,000 airplanes, more than were destroyed by the Germans and Japs.

Col. George C. Price, chief of the Office of Flying Safety of the AAF, disclosed that today in an address to the third national aviation clinic, a conference of all elements in aeronautics.

He used the story of the air force accident record—a record which showed that the accident rate was lower throughout the war than it ever had been in peacetime—to plead for concerted action by the aviation industry to retard and reduce an already alarming rise in civilian flying crash statistics.

Eva Braun, in Diary, Wrote She Was "Mistress of World's Greatest Man"

By JAMES F. KING

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 20 (AP)—Eva Braun wrote in her diary that she was "mistress of Germany" and the world's greatest man, and threatened to kill herself when Hitler gave her a "fat-legged" substitute for her.

She confided to the diary that Hitler was rather crude in love-making, never kept his promises, and sometimes gave her an envelope with money without saying a word.

Entries in the book, found in Eva's treasure chest, covered the four-month period from February to May, 1925, and were translated by United States intelligence officers.

They gave the first intimate details of Hitler, the lover.

"The weather is gorgeous and I, mistress of Germany's and the world's greatest man, have to sit at home and look at it through a window," said an entry dated May 10.

Upon learning of "the fat-legged" Walch, whom a friend had told her was a substitute for her, Eva wrote that "it is mean of him not to tell me."

Jealously, she wrote "her name is Walch and she looks it, including her legs. But these things are shapes that appeal to him. If that is true he will have her until she gets slim, unless she has Charlie's talent for thriving on worries."

Neither Walch nor Charlie, nor another woman in Hitler's life named only as "Ondra," were identified further.

On May 28, when Eva, a sleeping pill addict, had not seen Hitler for three months, she sent an ultimatum "that is decisive for me. If I don't get an answer by 10 tonight I'll take my own life."

State and Towns To Hold Meeting On Water Problem

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN
WESTERNPORT, Nov. 20—A conference has been called by officials of the Maryland State Board of Health, Bloomington Water Company and the mayor and commissioners of Westernport at the city building here Wednesday, December 5, to discuss the water situation of the town of Bloomington whose supply is furnished by the Westernport reservoir.

The meeting was called following a letter written to the health department by the town attorney, Horace P. Whitworth, informing them that too much water was being used there and that they would not do anything about the leaks in their lines. If something was not done the town would have to discontinue that service to Bloomington.

At the meeting of the mayor and commissioners last night, Francis D. Glass, water superintendent, reported that Bloomington is averaging 1,000 gallons an hour.

A representative of the Small-Payne Engine Ring Company, Cumberland, is expected here to discuss making a survey for a five-foot sewer beginning in the vicinity of the Western Maryland railway station, Maryland avenue, and continuing down below Bruce high school, Church street. Mayor McIntyre was authorized last night by the commissioners to use his judgment in the matter of employing the company.

This decision was made following the reading of a letter from L. Alvin Passerine, executive director of the Maryland commission on postwar reconstruction and development. It stated that they had been advised by the Federal Works Agency, Washington, that plans and specifications have been prepared for construction of two sewer projects.

These applications include a sanitary sewer and storm basin on Main street extended at a cost of $30,000 and Church street at $40,000.

The engineering company has agreed to make the survey for seven per cent of the cost of the construction job or a skeleton survey for a flat $500.

Rec Club Schedules Thanksgiving Dance

A special Thanksgiving dance will be held for Rec club members in the gymnasium of Central YMCA from 9 p. m. to midnight tomorrow. It was announced last night by Robert L. Sisson, general YMCA secretary.

Admittance will be by membership card only, and no new registrations will be accepted at the dance. Music will be provided by Jay Van's orchestra. The dance will be informal.

The regular weekly Rec club dance will be held Friday in the YMCA gym beginning at 9 p. m. The affair will be a "victory" dance, honoring the victorious team in the Thanksgiving day football game between Allegany and Fort Hill high schools. The gym will be decorated with the colors of the winning team. Sisson also reported last night that three delegates from the Rec club were appointed at the weekly meeting of the Rec club council yesterday to attend the twenty-third annual YMCA Older Boys' conference in Hagerstown December 7, 8 and 9. Those named are Fred Partleton, Frank Moss and Richard Grove. A total of fifteen Cumberland delegates will attend the conference, with three each from local Hi-Y clubs.

The council also set Friday, December 14, as parents' night, with all parents invited to attend the Rec club dance that evening, and to watch a swimming exhibition to be presented in charge of James Kelley, Jr. Refreshments will be served at 11 p. m. by a committee in charge of Mrs. George T. Growth of Southern Industry Is Cited JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 20 (AP)—The South has made great strides in industry in recent years and through co-operation could become the industrial empire of the nation, Remmie L. Arnold, Petersburg, Va., president of the Southern States Industrial Council, said today.

"For many years the income of the people of the South was far below the national average, but in recent years great strides have been made in our economy with diversification of industry and improvement in agriculture and business," the Virginia manufacturer said.

New vice presidents of the council include:

For Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina—J. E. Baker, Burlington, N. C.

For Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia—James D. Francis, Huntington, W. Va.

Strike of 325,000

have no comment until official notification from the union.

The company, in saying it would reply to the union demands for arbitration, did not give any indication whether the proposal had been received favorably or unfavorably.

The union's proposals, however, contained two stipulations previously rejected by the corporation—that a proposed board of arbitration have access to the company's books and that any wage increase that might result should not be tied in with increased prices for General Motors Products.

The corporation's communication to the union today said merely:

"We are in receipt of your letter of November 19, 1945, demanding an answer to the proposals contained therein within twenty-four hours. Our reply to this communication will be delivered to you on or before Friday, November 23."

The UAW-CIO General Motors council which drafted the arbitration proposal consists of approximately 200 representatives of UAW-CIO locals in 100 GM plants throughout the nation.

The council members came to the opening session of their meeting yesterday wearing label buttons reading "30 Per Cent or Fight."

The UAW-CIO has demanded thirty-per cent wage rate increases from all the automobile manufacturers. It has carried on negotiations on the wage demands for several weeks with General Motors and Chrysler Corporation and today began similar conferences with the Ford Motor Company.

Although directed only against General Motors, a strike would have potentialities for an enormous effect on not alone the automobile industry but on American commerce and business in general.

General Motors is America's largest operating corporation, its nationwide factory system turns out a huge flow of products in addition to automobiles, and an extended walk-out doubtless would make itself felt in every city of the nation.

Small Parcel of Land And Old Mine Are Subject of Hearing
A four-and-a-half-acre parcel of land on Dan's mountain with a local fuel mine that has been worked sporadically for the last 100 years was the subject of a hearing yesterday in circuit court.

No mining had been done there since 1920 when John Foot and his son-in-law, Arthur Bond, went in with a shovel about a year ago and started operations.

Foot and Bond were enjoined by the heirs of James H. Miller, who had worked the mine for a number of years.

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper took the case under advisement after hearing testimony yesterday regarding who has legal title to the property. D. Lindley Sloan and Edward J. Ryan are counsel for Foot and Bond. Charles Z. Heskett and Harry I. Stegmair represent the Miller heirs.

undertaken, Richardson said, by establishment of two patrol lines of light ships from Hawaii west to the Philippines and from Samoa to the Dutch East Indies.

Some one at the conference raised the question whether Japanese ships were to be stopped, and the view was expressed that this would mean war, the admiral continued.

Believed War Would Result
"I asked if the president was considering a declaration of war," the blunt, red-faced admiral told the committee. He said Knox replied he didn't know, but was just passing along the presidential proposal.

Richardson expressed the belief that "war would certainly result at such a course of action and, we would certainly lose a number of ships. It would entail such a dispersal as to expose ships in detail."

Richardson also told the investigating committee:

1. President Roosevelt "was rather loath to increase the number of men (in the navy) because he felt, as he expressed it to me, that men in mechanical trade in civilian life could be quickly inducted and made into adequate sailormen if their services became necessary."

2. That had not Adm. Stark, then chief of naval operations, "been influenced by other considerations, he would have agreed with me" that from the standpoint of preparedness, it was better to bring the fleet from Hawaii to the Pacific coast and there prepare it for any eventualities.

3. That Secretary of State Hull "felt that we should take a very strong position, and that retention of the fleet in Hawaii was a reflection of that strong attitude."

"I left here with the distinct impression that there was an opinion in Washington that Japan could be bluffed," said Richardson.

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN
WESTERNPORT, Nov. 20—A conference has been called by officials of the Maryland State Board of Health, Bloomington Water Company and the mayor and commissioners of Westernport at the city building here Wednesday, December 5, to discuss the water situation of the town of Bloomington whose supply is furnished by the Westernport reservoir.

The meeting was called following a letter written to the health department by the town attorney, Horace P. Whitworth, informing them that too much water was being used there and that they would not do anything about the leaks in their lines. If something was not done the town would have to discontinue that service to Bloomington.

At the meeting of the mayor and commissioners last night, Francis D. Glass, water superintendent, reported that Bloomington is averaging 1,000 gallons an hour.

A representative of the Small-Payne Engine Ring Company, Cumberland, is expected here to discuss making a survey for a five-foot sewer beginning in the vicinity of the Western Maryland railway station, Maryland avenue, and continuing down below Bruce high school, Church street. Mayor McIntyre was authorized last night by the commissioners to use his judgment in the matter of employing the company.

This decision was made following the reading of a letter from L. Alvin Passerine, executive director of the Maryland commission on postwar reconstruction and development. It stated that they had been advised by the Federal Works Agency, Washington, that plans and specifications have been prepared for construction of two sewer projects.

These applications include a sanitary sewer and storm basin on Main street extended at a cost of $30,000 and Church street at $40,000.

The engineering company has agreed to make the survey for seven per cent of the cost of the construction job or a skeleton survey for a flat $500.

Piedmont Council Meets
Motorists will be notified by Charles E. Dornon, chief of police of Piedmont, to discontinue parking on the Cumberland and Pennsylvania railroad crossing and walks near the depot. If they continue, will be fined. Councilman John Ward stated at the meeting of Mayor Harold Fredlock and the city council he had received complaints about this parking.

Mayor Fredlock informed the council that as many holes in the streets as can be repaired at this time of year would be filled by the street employees.

A permit was granted to the Fraternal Order of Eagles to cover their home on Jones street with iron brick and make other improvements.

Plan Service
The union Thanksgiving service sponsored by the Tri-Towns Ministerial Association will be held Thursday at 10 a. m. at Trinity Methodist church, Piedmont. The Rev. Philip M. Cory, pastor of the Piedmont Presbyterian church will deliver the sermon. His theme will be "Bless The Lord O My Soul."

The program will include invocation by the Rev. Lionel Cromwell, pastor of the Walden M. E. church, Piedmont; responsive reading, the Rev. R. J. Haines, pastor of St. James Episcopal church, Westernport; prayer of Thanksgiving, the Rev. William B. Orndorff, pastor of the Westernport First Baptist church; scripture reading, the Rev. Foster M. Bittinger, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Westernport; two anthems by the Trinity choir of Trinity church, "I Will Extol Thee," and "Praise The Lord for His Goodness," benediction by the Rev. Ernest Bruce Caplinger, pastor of the Westernport United Brethren church. The Rev. Raymond L. Moore, pastor of Trinity church will preside.

Westernport Briefs
The November meeting of the WSCS will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Trinity Methodist church, Piedmont. The annual election of officers will be held.

Praiseworthy Smoke Control Endeavors

COMMENDATION is in order for Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, and Fred T. Small, Celanese manager, for their efforts toward bringing about abatement of the smoke nuisance here.

As noted in the news columns,
Heskett is working on a new smoke abatement ordinance, with which he plans to combine the best features of the successful smoke control ordinances adopted in Pittsburgh and St. Louis, which have attracted national attention. Small, an enthusiast on the subject, has assigned one of his expert engineers, Max A. Shaffer, to work in conjunction with Heskett in designing controls suitable for practicable
application in the Cumberland area.

It is to be noted in this connection that smoke abatement is not an entirely new subject here. The chamber of commerce took it up at one time and made considerable progress by enlisting the co-operation of railroad and other utility managements, the former of which conducted some new orders concerning operation of locomotives within the city and the latter of which moved importantly with the installation of some devices and the prosecution of surveys by engineering experts.

But then the war came along and placed all these movements in abeyance because of the lack of materials covered by war priorities that were necessary to make further installations.

The war emergency is not yet over with respect to the most of these priorities and not a great deal can be done immediately in the installation of new devices and equipment. But plans for them when they become available are quite in order, and those who are making them are showing a praiseworthy forethought.

There is no argument about the need for smoke control here. It is a busy industrial community and the smoke and soot that are showered over it are costly both to health and materials. The sooner
it is tackled, the better.

Stanfill a Likely Federal Senator

KENTUCKY now has a Republican United States senator in the person of William A. Stanfill, who has been appointed by Governor Simsen Willis to succeed Senator
A. B. "Happy" Chandler, who finally resigned October 1 to accept his time to the duties of baseball commissioner to which he was elected by the major league owners
last April 24.

Stanfill, who will be the sixth member of his party to serve Kentucky in the United States Senate,
and the first since 1930 when Rep.
John M. Robinson served a short term by appointment of Gov. Flem
D. Sampson, appears to be well qualified for the position. He is a stocky, young-looking man for his 35 years.

The new senator is a practicing lawyer. He is a graduate of Harvard university, practiced at Harborsville for a time and then moved to Hazard, where he is in law partnership with J. W. Craft.
Recently he moved to Lexington in order to devote more time to his duties as his party's state chairman.

While he has been serving as chairman of the Kentucky Republican State Central Committee since 1944, he is not a mere politician, having had considerable to do with affairs other than partisan activity.
He has had considerable experience in the educational field, having been a member of the board of regents of Morehead State Teachers college, a member of the board of governors of the Kentucky Children's home at Lyndon until it was taken over by the state and a member of the joint board of education of the Methodist church in Kentucky.

With such a background, the new senator should serve with ability and credit in the federal Senate.

Labor Policy Must Have Better Balance

IN A REPORT issued by the Brookings Institution, Dr. Harold W.
Metz has put his finger squarely on the basic trouble with the government's labor policy in recent years.
Washington has had three major aims: Strengthening the bargaining power of labor, facilitating the peaceful settlement of labor disputes, and protecting the workers' right to self-organization. But whenever there has been a conflict between goals, the effort to increase bargaining power has been given first consideration.

It is this heavy over-emphasis upon a single objective that has been largely responsible for making the government's efforts on behalf of industrial peace so weak and ineffective. In its efforts to strengthen unions, Washington has shied away from every effort to make them more responsible units in the community.
It has been unwilling to put limits on the misuse of such weapons as strikes, picketing and boycotts. It has put the bargaining power of labor above the welfare of the public or even rights of individual members of the unions.

"The results of this policy are now visible on every hand. The government is now virtually powerless when a wave of strikes threatens the public welfare. It has no effective weapon for dealing with a recalcitrant union except seizure of the employer's plant and the force of public opinion."

This nation has now reached a point where government labor policy must be brought into better balance. The public realizes this, if Washington does not. Checks must be placed on the enormous power which labor leaders have achieved.
Flow now on the government must give a heavier emphasis on making labor live up to its responsibilities and less on enhancing its already great bargaining power if the country is to enjoy any measure of industrial peace.

The Move To Oust Senator Glass

JOHN LOCKE GREEN, Republican leader of Arlington county, Va., is persistent in his efforts to have the seat of ailing Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, declared vacant on the ground of physical incapacity. He tried without success to have the Virginia supreme court declare the seat vacant and now he has asked
the federal supreme court to do so.

Senator Glass, former secretary of the treasury and veteran of half a century of distinguished public service, entered the Senate in 1920 and was continuously re-elected. He has long been ill and, according to Green, has not been able to function as a senator since June of 1942.
His illness has confined him to his suite in a Washington hotel for a considerable period.

Perhaps the venerable senator feels that he will have a come-back in health and will be able soon to resume his senatorial duties, for which reason his resignation has not been forthcoming. At any rate, his long-
has created a strained situation over which protest naturally arises.

What the supreme court will do—whether it will decide to hear the appeal—will not be known for two months. Time is allotted for filing papers by both sides.

But it is this newspaper's guess
that the supreme court will refuse to hear the appeal on constitutional grounds, these being that the Senate alone has the power to declare a vacancy. "Each house," says Section 5 of Article I of the constitution,
"shall be the judge of the elections,
returns and qualifications of its own members . . ." and it is difficult to see how the court can get around that.

Washington Gossip Sees More Cabinet Changes

WASHINGTON GOSSIP has it that President Truman's cabinet
will undergo some more important changes within the next few months.
New Dealer Jokes will step out.
The interior post will go to a westerner. Senator O'Mahoney can have it if he wants it.

Labor Secretary Schweinfach is unhappy—and it is no wonder—but will hang on until a satisfactory judgment is reached by Truman.
He is a good man, but he is not somewhere in a policy continued
from the preceding administration.
Secretary Forrestal is scheduled to leave the navy before spring. Ed Pauley, party big-wig, is the likely successor.

Changes are also foreseen in other important posts. The reconversion boss, Snyder, wants to leave and it is understood that he will when he can do so without embarrassing his personal friend Truman.

Thus we shall be having more top changes in a year than in the dozen years of the Roosevelt period.
Whether for better or for worse,
however, will tell, but the trend toward
the politician doesn't sound auspicious.

Now that we have been advised that the discovery of the atomic bomb may force the rebuilding of the Panama canal, we may expect to see the discovery used as an argument for the spending of a lot more money for this thing, and the other, including river valley electric production authorities all over the country and what else have you, maybe even the minting and printing of new money.

Wild animal notes: A wolf was seen in the outskirts of Kansas City the other day, a wild raccoon was caught in a Boston residential district and Tammany tiger also came to life in New York city.

For the first time since it was installed fifty-six years ago, the death chair at Sing Sing prison in New York has been idle for a full year. What—are people actually getting better?

A modern miracle is how the atomic bomb secret continues to remain a secret while everybody is talking about it.

MacArthur has things well in hand, to the discomfort of the Winchells and other left-wingers.

OTHER PEOPLE'S IDEAS

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Little that we say, or write, can be construed as original. We can clothe our thoughts, through words, with our own personality, but what we express has probably been in millions of minds before.

We are borrowers and adapters of other people's ideas. I read in a book of sayings that were expressed by philosophers and wise men 5,000 years ago, yet I find in what they have said nothing that has not been current in the minds of others, ever since, and perhaps before. But we are always stimulated by what other people write or say in speech.
It is because of this that we communicate happily with one another.

Only through the interchange of ideas are we enabled to progress.
Through the vast number of published books, from the first printing to the present day, ideas have saturated their pages. Minds have been stimulated to think independently and creatively. Better living as been stimulated. Democratic ideas have taken wing to the farthermost parts of the earth. To all the thinkers of the earth we owe a debt.

Franklin had an idea and he demonstrated it with his kite. Our great progress in science has been the result of ideas. Every invention has had its inception in an idea. And often new inventions are put improvements on other people's ideas.

We learn by reading and listening—perhaps more by listening than reading. A good listener always goes far. Ideas are the cornerstones of all worthwhile enterprises.
Whatever success we have, or owe to the ideas that we have created, or adopted. We are constantly inspired by other people's ideas, and wherever possible our appreciation should be expressed.

Just think of the multitude of ideas that have had their inception, or birth, in the simple discovery of the possibility of the ordinary person. It has revolutionized living, and it is only the beginning. An endless number of ideas, yet unborn, cluster about this one idea.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

War Converter Causes Inside Commotion By Opposing Minimum Wage Measure

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The situation inside the office of fumbling war converter John Snyder
is so bad it can't go on much longer.
It got so confused the other day
that Lt. Gen. Levin H. Campbell, Jr., chief of ordnance, and one of the ablest executives in the War department, walked out of Snyder's office. Campbell had been loaned to Snyder to help with the reconversion job, but the mess was too much for him.

Another climax came last week
when Snyder informed Truman secretly that he would not testify
for the administration-supported bill to raise minimum wages to sixty-five cents an hour. Snyder was to have been one of the key witnesses. The bill is considered one of the most important pieces of legislation on the Truman calendar, and aims to keep buying power
at a high level to prevent depression.

Snyder, after backing and filling,
finally wrote his boss in the White House a confidential memo saying that he did not believe in the sixty-five-cent minimum wage law, that some employers couldn't afford to pay it,
and that he could not testify.

How long Truman will go along with his old Missouri National Guard friend remains to be seen.
He has been very patient so far.

Note—Many capital observers believe Truman most serious mistake was firing Henry Morgenthau as secretary of the treasury. When Morgenthau departed, Fred Vinson was yanked out of the war recon-verter's job to replace him. Vinson is one of the few men in government who have the know-how to cut red tape and get things done. Skilled men of his type are few and far between. And Snyder, a relatively green banker from St. Louis, was put in Vinson's large and difficult shoes.

John L. Lewis Battles

Here is what's been happening behind the closed doors of the Labor-Management conference during the last few days. Delegates have witnessed an astute campaign by John L. Lewis to become the leader of the AFL as well as the United Mine Workers; also a frantic fight by Lewis and Bill Green not to be backed into a corner by CIO chief Phil Murray regarding wage increases.

Here is some of the backstage play.
When Bill Green virtually let

Lewis become the AFL spokesman,
it immediately leaked to labor ranks.
Also, it backfired. Green got a barrage of complaints from the AFL that he was letting Lewis steal the show. Also AFL members didn't like the Lewis idea of price increases as well as wage increases—which,
in the end, meant no gain for labor.

Meanwhile, Phil Murray kept hammering home his resolution for immediate substantial wage increases. "Finally, at a secret session of the executive committee last week, Green nervously announced that he had something to say."

"I want to make the A. F. of L.'s position clear," declared Green.
"The A. F. of L. should not be misunderstood. We are not opposing wage increases for our people. If only the A. F. of L. had not misunderstood Mr. Murray's resolution, the problem would never have arisen."

Lewis Squirms

Lewis twisted and squirmed as Green spoke, realizing he was losing some of his grip on the A. F. of L.
whose members also want immediate wage increases.

"In that case," replied Phil Murray, "I propose that this conference record itself in favor of my resolution which says that parties in collective bargaining agree to substantial wage increases."

This again brought Green to his feet. He made a half-hour speech saying that his organization, which bargains craft by craft, could not support a resolution asking for "substantial wage increases." Green was followed by George Harrison, of the
A. F. of L. Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

"It is obvious," Harrison interjected, "that neither side is going to get its resolution approved. We should avoid being compelled to vote for or against either resolution."

Harrison was referring to a substitute management resolution favoring collective bargaining but making no mention of wage increases.
Harrison suggested that management withdraw its resolution and that Murray eliminate the last pa-graph of his proposal, namely his statement that wage increases are imperative. Management delegates promptly agreed with Harrison's suggestion. But Murray was on his feet storming.

"I want a vote on my resolution!"
he bellowed. "I am going to win,
then fine. And if I am going to lose,
well then, that's all right too. I am entitled to a recorded vote. I want everybody on record as to where they stand on this issue."

John L. Lewis then rose and offered an innocuous substitute resolution calling for neither higher nor lower wages but only for harmony.
But the Lewis proposal got no support from any side.

Management Parties

H. W. Prentiss, Jr., of the Armstrong Cork Co., Lancaster, Pa., then proposed a six-man committee to iron out the differences in the various resolutions. He suggested that the committee be composed of Green, Murray, Lewis and three management members. This delighted Green, who immediately
moved acceptance of the Prentiss suggestion. Green knew this would put Murray on the spot and result in a 3-1 vote against the CIO.

But Murray was on his feet again.
"Management has had one full week to study the CIO proposal," stormed the CIO chief. "It has submitted its own proposal. Their answer to our call for immediate wage increases is no. I want a vote on my resolution."

Murray was bypassed, and the committee voted 12-3 to support Prentiss. At this point Murray calmly announced that he would not serve on the compromise drafting committee.

Meanwhile, the AFL and Lewis
are racking their collective brains trying to figure out a way to avoid a vote. Murray has put them on the spot. Neither can afford to vote against wage increases. At the same time, management cannot fly in the face of President Truman's statement that immediate wage increases are essential, by opposing the Murray resolution either. That's what the deadlock is all about.

Capital Craft

Rep. Andy Biemiller, of Milwaukee, has unearthed the fact that 170 doctors are engaged in the care of 160 patients at an army hospital on Iwo Jima. . . . Representative Koppelman, of Connecticut, has called on air force chief Gen. Hap Arnold to explain why G.I.'s are being used to construct commercial airfields in Asia and Africa—at G.I. rates of pay. . . . The new Dies committee has refused to discuss its Hollywood investigation with California congressmen. But despite this secrecy, a thirteen-point resume of the findings is published by rabble-rouser Gerald L. K. Smith's magazine, "The Cross and the Flag." Strange how the committee co-operates with Smith.

Minority Vote Squeeze Is On, Pettengill Says

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Two months from now the primaries begin for the 1946 congressional election. With President Truman's reelection Congress for not passing bills demanded by the CIO's Political Action Committee, it is plain that the squeeze is on.

The Detroit election shows that the CIO is not a majority voting bloc even in highly concentrated territory. However, that election does not in any way disprove the power of an organized minority.

To illustrate, let us say there are 135 people in America (instead of 135 million). Eighty are qualified to vote, but only fifty do, and then only in a presidential election which alone draws that number to the polls. If twenty-six vote one way and twenty-four the other, twenty-four cancel out on both sides and two votes swing the election one way or another.

Truman Faces Battle

There is, of course, a bare possibility that the government might take a hand and fix wages as it has prices. It may be politically unwise for the administration to take such a step but it may, on the other hand, prove politically unwise not to do so. For whichever way
the situation drifts, if it is not settled and a long strike ensues, President Truman would be blamed for the failure to bring about a settlement.

Most persons may have overlooked
or forgotten the fact that the president still has the legal power to fix wages. Those wage stabilization regulations which he revoked
just after V-J day can be put back again overnight by executive order.
Indeed, the order says that wages cannot be raised if they involve a dispute as to prices to be charged to the public.

Fact-Giving Better

So if there is a strike, it will be President Truman's responsibility under the Smith-Connally law or the Wage-Price law to take action.
It would be much better therefore,
if the president took charge of the situation at once, appointed a fact-finding body and after due inquiry told the public and the employers and unions just what the facts do show.

The unions may not like it if they are, in effect, ordered to take an increase of basic pay which is less than they now demand. The employers in the auto industry may not like it if they are, in effect, ordered to absorb an increase in workers'
pay out of profits. But when collective bargaining breaks down in a vital industry or is impracticable
due to government control of wages
or prices or both, the public interest demands action by the government itself to prevent serious interruptions in the flow of goods through interstate commerce.

Fact-Finding Body Is Viewed as Key To Labor Muddle

By DAVID LAWRENCE

pattern of economic war is unfolding before the very eyes of the Labor-Management conference. The union of auto workers is preparing to use the strike weapon.

Nobody is going to be benefited by the coming war—least of all the public which needs new motor vehicle transportation for reasons
of safety on the roads and to supply
the economic needs of a country which has been deprived of new automobiles for three years.

But the auto manufacturers couldn't feel this is the time to have it out with the unions not only because of the wage demands which the employers deem excessive but to compel some degree of responsibility by the unions for the arbitrary acts and unauthorized work stoppages of their members when these are violations of written contracts.

Labor Leaders Concerned

The union leaders, on the other hand, feel that their prestige and power among their own members is at stake and that dues-paying will not continue in as big a flow before if the leaders fail to get for the workers the same take-home pay that labor received during the long work days and overtime periods of the war era.

Here is a controversy which depends more than anything else for its proper settlement on the self-restraint of both sides. Both sides be persuaded to exercise and on the capacity of government either to bring about mediation or some form of fact-finding so as to convince both management and labor of the

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I went shopping for our Thanksgiving turkey and they're really scarce this year. In fact, they're not selling them by the pound . . .
They just keep 'em under glass and charge you so much a peck. I asked the butcher for five dollars worth of turkey and it was really a laugh! For five dollars all he did was pull out a feather and tickle me with it.

In the old days it was different.
If you wanted a Thanksgiving dinner, all you had to do was to go out and point a gun at a turkey.
Now, you have to point a gun at your butcher. But he finally softened up (especially in the head where I was hitting him) and asked if I wanted a tom turkey. I told him, "I'm not particular . . ." either Tom, Dick, or Harry." But after a lot of trouble finding a co-signer, he finally sold me one. And I'm not saying that turkey was old,
but it wouldn't come home from my Pilgrim's hat!

I got on the streetcar with it and a Boy Scout stood up and offered her his seat. Even so, I got it. And it's going to be very strange for me to have a turkey. . . . I usually have them Tuesday night.

"I'M SORRY, SIR,
BUT I'LL HAVE TO CHARGE YOU MORE
IF YOU HAVE MORE!"

How much can you pay?

What would you think if the clerk at your favorite store asked to see what you had in your wallet before he decided what to charge you for a shirt?

Or if, just because you happened to have some money saved up, you were asked to pay more than other people for a haircut, a movie ticket, or even such important items as rent, food and clothing.

That's exactly the kind of reasoning UAW-CIO leaders are using in their wage demands on General Motors—

They point to funds we have saved up over the years to expand and improve our plants and provide more jobs and more production. They say, "Give us that in higher wages."

General Motors does not go along with that kind of reasoning. People should not have to pay more just because they have a savings account—

For many years we have used our savings to expand capacity, create more jobs and provide greater values.

And we intend to keep on doing just that. We are, at present, embarked on a very important reconversion and postwar expansion program. Our objective, now as always—to produce more and better things for more people.

Kangaroo, Wearing Vest, Is Hunted

Somewhere up in the hills of Grafton (New South Wales) men are conducting one of the most intensive hunts of all time.

They are looking for a sleekly-groomed kangaroo wearing a navy-blue tweed vest and here's the story behind it.

A few days ago, kind-hearted, good-natured William Thompson was riding the boundary of his farm. He came across a disabled kangaroo caught in the barbed wire fence.

Thompson tried to free him but decided that he would have to go back to the farm for tools. Night was near and it was chilly, so Thompson took off his vest and put it on the kangaroo to keep him warm while he was away.

He returned with wire cutters and soon had the animal free. Mr. Roo promptly bounded off into the bushland with a haste that fully expressed his gratitude. Thompson smiled, then gasped, and began a futile chase to keep the disappearing beast in sight.

He didn't regret the loss of the vest but he was—and still is—worried about the wallet, which contains valuable papers and a five-pound ($16) note.

Allegany County History Highlights Feature Talk

Although 250 years elapsed from the founding of Maryland until the first white man came as far west as Allegany county, this section of the state played an historical part in both the Revolutionary and Civil wars. Lewyn Davis told members of the Young Women's group of First Presbyterian church, and their guests at the dinner-meeting Monday evening in the lecture hall.

He explained that "Big Savage" received its name because for a long time that was the most distant point to which the whites pushed the Indians. However, the friendly Indians were not permitted to fraternize with the "British Red Coats," but were kept across the river, in what is now Ridgeley, he said, and told several incidents of a little Indian boy, "Bright Lightning," and how he constantly irritated the soldiers.

Negro mountain, Mr. Davis explained, was named in memory of an old negro slave in the Cresap family, who was killed while accompanying his master in battle and was buried there. The capture of Kelly and Crook by the McNeil rangers was also related by the speaker as well as the building of the National pike, the canal and Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

The Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor, led a discussion on the part the Presbyterian church played in the history of Cumberland, recalling the erection of the church in 1850 with the late Rev. James E. Moffatt, first pastor, serving fifty years, and his successors up to the Rev. Mr. Eisenberger. Mrs. Eisenberger pointed out that three Presbyterians were on the board of the old academy and that the old colored man who served as janitor of the church for fifty-two years lived in the slave quarters, still standing in back of the church house.

Miss Ann Blakeslee Smith, president of the group, welcomed the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Eisenberger, Mrs. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Keller, husbands of members and the sixteen servicemen and their wives who were special guests.

Thomas Waller offered the devotionals and E. Allen Cook gave the blessing. Gifts of handkerchiefs were presented by Miss Smith in behalf of the group to Mrs. Keller for her assistance at the rummage sale and to Mrs. F. P. Haller, Mrs. Jessie White and Mrs. Bess Buchanan for taking charge of the dinner.

Fall flowers were used in the decorations of the room and were repeated in the bouquets centering the table. Covers were laid for sixty-seven guests. Mrs. Norman Taylor was chairman of arrangements and was assisted by Mrs. Russell Harrison and Mrs. E. Allen Cook.

The next meeting will be held December 17 at the manse.

Beall Advises Trip To Alaska but Not By Alcan Highway

Alaska is a lovely country to visit, either by air or boat, but not by motor on the Alcan highway, J. Glenn Beall, United States Representative of the Sixth Congressional district, told members of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the dinner-meeting last evening at Central YMCA.

Speaking from his experience as a member of the commission to Alaska to see the Alcan highway, Rep. Beall told the group that at present the highway is not much for tourists; the road bed is unstable and washes away easily and that he does not see any possibilities for change in the near future.

He also explained that the road was built by the United States in the war effort, but that peacetime construction brings up another problem, which has not been brought to the foreground as yet, and the question of maintenance is still to be decided by the United States and British Columbia.

Rep. Beall described Alaska as a beautiful country full of beautiful little cities and shopping districts. Although the whole of Alaska is twice the size of Texas, its population, he said, is about forty-four thousand, or equivalent to that of Cumberland. Although the climate in parts is severe and cold, in other sections it is mild and lovely in certain seasons of the year.

Miss Louise Cornell presided and Miss Anna B. Gray, Welfare chairman, was in charge of the program. Plans were formulated for the annual Christmas party which will be held December 11 at Central YMCA. Mrs. Flora Blackwell, Recreational chairman, will be in charge of the program, which will feature musical numbers and games. Jingle gifts will be exchanged and members will bring the usual gifts for holiday distribution to children.

HOW SMART ARE YOU?

Plenty smart, if you are one of the thousands of girls and women who have found blessed relief from "monthly grumps" in Chi-Ches-Ters Pills. Of course, they do not correct organic menstrual conditions that require consultation with your doctor. But they do help to relieve the discomfort of functional pains, cramps, headaches and nervousness that frequently accompanies the normal menstrual period. Taken according to directions, preferably two or three days in advance of your time, Chi-Ches-Ters Pills tend to relax the muscular contraction that is often the cause of unnecessary distress. An added iron ingredient helps promote resistance and energy. Before suffering again ask your druggist for Chi-Ches-Ters Pills, and accept no substitute. Caution: Use only as directed.

Three Permits Issued By City Engineer

Two occupancy permits and one building permit were granted recently in the city engineer's office. Edward J. McCusker was granted a permit to occupy the first story of a two-story brick building at 304 Virginia avenue as a gift shop. The building, formerly occupied as a store room, is located in a business zoning district. It is owned by Louis Cifala, 303 Virginia avenue.

A permit was secured by Raymond B. Kuhns, general manager of the City Electrical Appliance Corporation to occupy the first story of a three-story brick building at 107 Frederick street as a store for electrical appliances and refrigerators. The premises, at present occupied by a beauty shop, are located in a business zoning district.

John L. Davidson, RFD 2, Baltimore pike, was granted a permit to build a house on lots No. 24 and 25, Haddon avenue. The one-story building, which will measure 24 by 26 feet, will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls and a slate surface roof. The owner will do the construction work, estimated at $2,000. The lots, which have a seventy-foot frontage on Haddon avenue, were purchased from Webster Williams.

How about making a few glasses of jelly for Christmas presents, if you're one of those lucky people who has enough sugar put by so that you can use it to be kind to others at the holiday season? A few jars of jelly, plus a fruit cake of your own concocting, will make a lovely gift. You can dress it up if you present it on a set of little trays, to be used later for buffet meal serving. Or put the jelly glasses in the cups of a new muffin tin.

There are plenty of good jams and jellies that can be made at this season. Here are some good ones:

Grapefruit and Savory Jelly
3 cups grapefruit juice
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup water

To prepare juice, grate rind and squeeze from four medium grapefruit. Add juice to grated rind and let stand ten minutes. Press juice through cloth.

To prepare savory infusion, pour one-half cup boiling water over two tablespoons savory. Cover and let stand fifteen minutes. Strain.

Measure sugar, juice and savory infusion into large saucepan and mix.

Bring to a boil over fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for one-half minute.

Remove from fire, stir in quickly. Pour into jars. This makes about eleven medium glasses.

Orange Marmalade
2 1/2 cups prepared 1% cups light fruit
1 1/2 cups sugar 1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, remove skins in quarters from five medium oranges and one medium lemon. Lay skins flat, shave off and discard about half of the white part. With a very sharp knife, cut remaining rind into fine shreds. Add a cup and a half of water and an eighth of a teaspoon of soda.

Bring to a boil, and simmer, covered, for just ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Cut off tight skin of peeled fruit and slip pulp out of each section. Add pulp, juice and a cup of sugar to cooked rind. Simmer covered twenty minutes longer. This cup of sugar is in addition to the amount specified above.

Measure sugar and syrup into dish and set aside until needed. Measure prepared fruit into a three-to-four quart kettle, filling up last cup or fraction of cup with water if necessary. Place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar and syrup, stirring constantly. To reduce foaming, a quarter teaspoon of butter may be added. Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard two minutes.

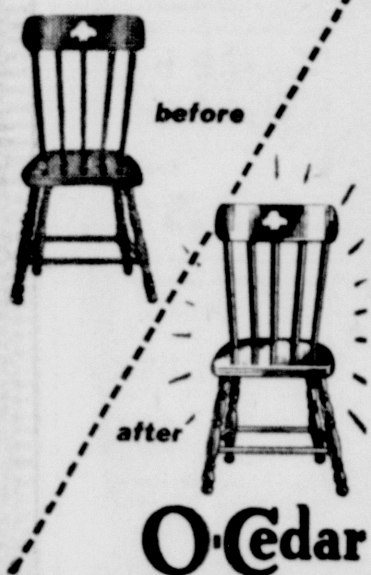

Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Pour into jars. Marmalade at once. Makes about nine glasses, holding six fluid ounces each.

Raisin Fruit Cake
4 cups seeded 4 cups sifted cake flour
2 raisins 5 teaspoons double-acting or orange rind baking powder
1 tablespoon 2 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon 1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup shortening
2 1/2 cups wheat or cold strong coffee
2 1/2 cups nut meats

Combine the raisins, rind, spices and the two and one-fourth cups water or coffee in a saucepan. Cover and cook gently eight minutes. Drain, pressing out as much liquid as possible. Measure liquid and add water or coffee to make one and one-half cups, reserve. Grind raisins with nuts.

Sift flour once, measure add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift together three times. Cream shortening thoroughly. Add flour mixture, eggs, vanilla and

Moorefield Fire Company Grants Three-year Lease

By MRS. R. E. FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 20.—The Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company will lease the Inskeep hall to Mrs. Eunice D. McCoy for a period of three years, according to the action taken at the meeting Thursday night.

Terms of the lease are that the firemen will have the use of the hall each week and may terminate the lease at any time within the period of the lease, provided the hall will not be used for a commercial moving picture theater.

The firemen are contemplating making the theater part of the building into apartments. A monthly rental of $25 for the vacant theater was agreed upon.

The fire company will move into its new quarters in the town hall or Inskeep hall as soon as the furnace is installed. The furnace has been ordered.

The firemen voted to table the motion to purchase an army jeep at this time but may consider it at a later date. A janitor was secured to take care of the fires at the fire house for the winter and the truck was winterized for the cold weather.

A card party will be held at the Masonic Lodge recreation rooms December 27 for the benefit of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company.

Strength of Specialties Spreads; Market Average Hits 14-year Peak

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, Nov. 20. (AP)—Strength of specialties today spread to other sections of the stock market in the final hour and gains of fractions to more than two points for rails, steels, coppers, sugars, amusements and assorted industrials helped put the overall average at a fourteen-year peak.

Dealings, slow at intervals, speeded up on the comeback. Of 2,180,000 shares for the day, 850,000 changed hands in the last 600 minutes. The total compared with 2,020,000 Monday.

Hopes for lifted dividends bolstered the rails. Coppers and sugars were buoyed by the better price outlook for these staples caused by excessive shortages.

Prominent on the upswing, many in the "new high" class, were Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Southern Railway, St. Paul common and Kennecott.

On the offside were American Telephone, American Water Works, North American, General Electric, du Pont, Johns-Manville and Woolworth.

Railroad bonds pulled up with numerous gains of one to two points in an otherwise quiet market today. United States governments were quiet but steady.

HOSPITAL'S INCOME SHOWS INCREASE

Memorial hospital's net income increased from $28,516.37 in 1943-44 to $86,792.18 for the year ending September 30, 1945, according to an annual financial report filed with the mayor and city council by Charles O. Hall, Baltimore public accountant.
Net operating income jumped from $8,288.62 to $65,678.39, exclusive of depreciation. Income for the past year was $447,025.82 as compared to $340,636.18. The main increases were about $87,000 for patient care and $17,000 for cadet corps maintenance. Expenses jumped from $332,347.56 to $381,347.43.

The report shows the hospital has $150,000 in United States bonds in reserve for improvements and extensions.

Hall suggests that an analysis of the furniture and equipment account be made to determine what charges should be made to operating expenses and what to capital investment. It is also proposed that the accounting system be changed to meet present demands.

Excess assets over liabilities are listed as $1,173,737.22.

Railroads Would Be Made Liable for Damage Caused By Drinking on Trains

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. (AP)—Legislation to make railroads liable for damage caused by drinking hard liquor on trains has been introduced by Rep. Russell (D-Tex.). While it would not prohibit the serving of drinks, it would place upon the railroads liability for injury to any passenger caused by disorders or other acts resulting from drinking either by railroad employees or passengers.

Cider Shortage Reported

There is little cider for sale in local groceries because of the small apple crop this season.

Apple growers in the section said that the shortage caused an increase in the price of ground apples and culls.

One store reported that cider is retailing at sixty cents a gallon. A Cumberlander paid $1 for a gallon in the Moorefield section.

THE HILLS

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills. From whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, Which made heaven and earth."

Help . . . from the hills?

Yes, if you know the hills. Hills are not "scenery" . . . piles of wood and stone. Hills live like people live. The hills are colonies of life . . . each atom in them lives . . . the trees and rocks have life, the soil and animals.

If you have once perceived this life, and your kinship to it, it will make your own life over. You and the hills will belong to each other as you and your mother belonged to each other when you waited in her womb . . . as you and God belonged to each other when you waited in His Mind.

But you cannot perceive the real life of the hills through the senses any more than you can perceive the reality of people through the senses. You must discover the hills with your spirit . . . as you must discover people with your spirit. You must become part of them, and let them become part of you. Then when you "lift up your eyes unto the hills for help," you will surely find the help . . . for you will have come again to your own people. And they will know your need, for it is one with their needs.

Spring, summer, autumn and winter will no longer be "just seasons" when you know the hills. They will be an unfolding of that life which you and the hills share . . . that necessity which stirs in you as it stirs in the hills.

In the spring, the hills quicken. The sky is like pale moving smoke. The air is iridescent, shot with gleams, w threads of light. The color clings like a wet cobweb to the swollen twigs . . . then, drying, breaks into a foam of bloom. Within the trees, the freed sap tangles, mounts . . . the leaf buds burst in ecstasy. The great earth wakes and sprawls her naked, tawny body to the sun. The flowers fling a girdle round her waist . . . the grass weaves her a shimmering veil of green. She waits . . . and laughs . . . and from her issues a low crooning and a fragrant steam.

In the summertime the hills throw off their veils and toil, hard and alert, through brilliant burnished days. There is a going and coming through their aisles . . . a sense of pressing business, under way. Beneath the silence roars a tide of sound, tree voice, earth voice, and voice of egg and seed. The hot air smells of gum . . . the roots push eagerly through the deep soil. Only, at night, the hills rest for a spell, heads on their knees, dark backs humped to the stars.

THEN, with the autumn, comes the bacchanal. The hills, like drunken giants, keep the "harvest home." Upon their tumbled heads are wreaths of grape . . . from their huge shoulders flow their brooded robes, scarlet and apricot and tarnished gold, all splashed with purple shadow, like spilled wine. The air is thick as honey and the dust is spiced. The moon lolls, red, enormous, on a violet bed.

Then winter comes . . . leaves fall . . . the sap descends . . . but there's no stop to life among the hills. All moods that you have known in your heart sweep raving, wailing, through the torn skies. Frost of despair and lightning of revolt, gray dragging veils of blind and hopeless grief, and great clouds, boiling, mounting, in black rage. The stripped earth covers, and the tall trees bend . . . the mountains huddle, massed against the storm. All you have felt goes on within the hills.

For hills are made of living molecules, as you are made. And hills are filled with life, as you are filled. And life . . . ALL life . . . moves by the self-same law—feels the same hope and need.

For life is God . . . and God awaits you in the fastness of the hills.

Court Approves B and O Debt Adjustment Plan

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20.—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's $300,000,000 debt adjustment plan—described by railroad officials at a preliminary hearing as the largest re-financing operation of its type in railroad history—was approved today by a special three-judge court.

The plan affects eight classes of security holders, its principal effect being to postpone the debt maturities for periods from twenty to fifty years, depending on the class of bonds.

While the interest rate of the issues remained unchanged, about one-third of the total annual fixed charges of $27,000,000 was made contingent on the sufficiency of current annual net income, the court noted. Deferred payments, however, would be cumulative.

Frostburg Legion Reports 375 New Members for 1946

Post Sets Goal of 500 Members by First of Next Year

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Nov. 20.—Ellis Yates, membership chairman of Frostburg Post No. 24, American Legion, reported at a meeting last evening that 375 new members have been received for 1946. Total membership for the past year was 342.

Tentative plans for the fireproof building the Legion is planning to erect at the corner of Main and Water streets were displayed at the meeting Monday. R. Holt Hitchens, city architect and the building is to be constructed at an estimated cost of $60,000 as soon as materials are available.

Conference Aims To Boost Farmers' Standard of Living

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—The second session of the State Extension and Soil Conservation conference today announced as its goal for 1946 the achievement of better rural living standards in the face of uncertain peacetime farm markets.

Setting a tentative extension program for the coming year, to be presented to farm and home leaders for approval, the conference advocated greater efficiency in production and marketing of farm products; restoration and improvement of farm and home equipment and replenishment of soil, forest and natural resources as well as conservation of those on hand.

Delegates advocated greater study of nutrition to improve the health of rural families, aid to returning veterans and development of leadership among youth as well as adults in farm communities.

Prof. Fred Leinbach, head of the University of Maryland Husbandry department, said the peacetime challenge to supply the changing needs of the consumer was even greater than the wartime call on farm families for a huge food production.

Earlier in the session, Paul Nyström, county extension agent leader, declared that full employment at home and foreign markets for farm products were the two keys to agricultural prosperity.

Girl, 22, Does Not Know if Young Man Reciprocates Love

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:
"I'm 22 years of age and would like your advice on how to find out if a young man loves you or not. I've been going out with him for some time and although he has never said he loves me, I care for him very deeply. He always takes me out when he's home on leave and says he likes me.

If for several years he's been telling you he likes you while you've learned to love him deeply, it's high time you began to look for signs and portents. Meanwhile you might consider if he's unselfish concerning you. Are you even subtly included in any future plans? Does he have that mid-day sunshiny look when you appear—that's always a giveaway.

There's an old saying that love and a cough are hard to conceal. As you're only 22 you can afford a little more watchful waiting. If you were older I'd remind you the world is full of cagey lovers who seldom risk a commitment beyond the word "like." Again there's a group that seems to take things for granted.

A girl wrote to this column not long ago that she decided to break with one of the unresponsive. He amazed her by saying "I thought it was understood we were engaged. I've been waiting for you to say something definite about it." But it doesn't do for a girl to bank too heavily on such refrigerated proposals as this.

A man who never gets beyond the stage of saying he likes the girl friend may be just one of those cavaliers who have a genius for friendship and nothing more. You probably know couples no longer young who've been going together for years. Their friends understand they are engaged but after ten, twenty or thirty years they're no nearer marriage than in the beginning.

Such men are congenial celibates. They have no gift for marriage. They're terrified by such a relationship, but they don't hesitate to "waste a girl's time," as the saying goes, and keep away eligible. Women are queer creatures. They fall in love with such men and hope against hope that some day they'll say "the hard word," as the beloved Irish call a proposal.

Then sometimes these chronic boy friends, grown middle-aged and pensive, surprise everybody by marrying a girl young enough to be their daughter or granddaughter.

My correspondent whose letter we have considered, it would seem, has no cause for immediate worry. (Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Great Sachem Makes Official Visitation To Tonkaway Tribe

The members of Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Red Men, Sunday received an official visit from Great Sachem James A. Phillips, Baltimore.

Seven palefaced were adopted at ceremonies Sunday afternoon at the Eagles home and Oliver H. Bruce, Jr. served as toastmaster at a dinner which followed.

Talks were given by Great Sachem Phillips, W. Ewald Ruehl, great senior sagamore; Thoms E. Taylor, Midland, and Albert Holler, West-ernport, both past great sachems.

More than 150 members of the order attended.

Council Discusses Smoke Control

Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, Monday told the mayor and council that it may be desirable to prohibit the use of gas coal in the city in order to curb the smoke problem. Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich said that he is getting figures on gas heating.

Mayor Thomas S. Post contended that smoke could be eliminated by proper firing and that Cumberland should use coal since it is in a coal region. Heskett said that devices to control locomotive smoke could be installed for $150.

The council instructed Helfrich to study the possibilities of street repairs on Oak street extended and Cresap street. The action resulted from a petition signed by thirty-two residents of that area.

An application by the Lions club for permission to erect a banner across Centre street was rejected. The club wants to sell Christmas trees on a North Centre street lot to raise funds for the annual Kid-dies Christmas party.

The city departments will be closed Thursday.

Airport receipts for the week were $25.41.

Water consumption was 72,920,000 gallons, a daily average of 10,417,000 gallons as compared to 10,594,000 gallons of the same period last year.

Sugar Bowl May Look Westward For Both Teams

St. Mary's of California and Oklahoma Aggies Are Scouted

By KRIS KREEGER

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 20 (AP)—For the first time in its twelve-year history, the Sugar bowl may look westward for both its New Year's day football choices—specifically to St. Mary's of California and to Oklahoma A. and M.

Each has been scouted by Sugar bowl members. Army and Alabama are the only bowl possibilities ranking above them in the Associated Press's weekly poll of outstanding college teams; and it is quite possible that Army will spurn all offers, and that Alabama will take its sixth trip to the Rose bowl.

Three times the Sugar bowl has paired two clubs from east of the Mississippi, but never have both contestants come from the West—although four times a western team has met Tulane or Louisiana State university, whose players could get to the sunset side of Ole Man River with a short walk and a nickel ferry fare.

Louisiana State, incidentally, might well get into the Sugar bowl again. The Bayou Tigers, beaten by Alabama and Mississippi state, have only a so-so Tulane team yet to meet.

An Alabama victory over Mississippi State would leave LSU as the Southeast's second club by virtue of seven major conquests—counting Tulane a victim.

There is strong neighborhood pressure on the Sugar bowlers to invite the State Tigers, who play a daring, open, sudden-death game that always thrills the crowd. The argument is brought forth also that LSU, beaten twice in a season that included only big-time opponents, is more desirable than St. Mary's with one spot of tarnish on a less-impressive schedule.

Of course, if Mississippi State upsets Alabama—but the Sugar bowlers don't like to think of such a confusing situation.

Crippled Commodores Prep for First Army

BAINBRIDGE, Md., Nov. 20 (AP)—Injury-ridden after three successive defeats, the Bainbridge Commodores held their first practice session of the week today in preparation for their final game of the season Sunday against the First Army team from Fort Bragg, N. C.

The Commodore eleven will be handicapped by the absence of three regulars from the lineup. The Bainbridge team has four victories against three losses this season, while the First Army eleven has broken even in six contests.

THE CITY SCHOLASTIC individual scoring championship as well as the Cumberland Valley Athletic League and city football titles will be at stake when the Fort Hill Sentinels and the Allegany High Campers collide in their annual Thanksgiving day tilt. The clash of the two unbeaten elevens is expected to attract one of the largest crowds ever to witness an intra-city engagement. Tom Powers,

Golf's "Big Four" Face Competition

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 20 (AP)—Leaders in the first four meets of the PGA winter circuit and who hope to stay in the money during the fifth stop—Beauvoir country club's $10,000 invitational—may be in for some tougher competition than recently encountered.

Advance information, until today, was that one of the "Big Four" of early entries would be the favorite to cop the $20,000 Victory bond first money in the tournament which opens Thursday.

The four favored shotmakers were Sam Byrd, former New York Yankee outfielder who won the $10,000 Azalea open at Mobile yesterday; Dutch Harrison, Little Rock, runner-up in the Mobile meet; Ben Hogan, from Hershey, Pa., and Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Philadelphia. However, a different light was focused on the situation as Johnny Revolta, the Evanston, Ill. ace, and Jim Ferrier, Chicago, registered for their first appearances on the winter circuit. Ed Oliver, Wilmington, N. C., who passed up the Azalea meet, also will be here.

About 150 professionals and top-flight amateurs are expected to compete for the $10,000 in war bonds.

Army To Probe Report Athletes Receive Discharge Preference

By BUS HAM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The War department said today it doubted if "preferential treatment" is being accorded big-name athletes for demobilization in the Pacific, but it added that the matter will be "run down."

The army newspaper Stars and Stripes yesterday said editorially that demobilization of baseball, football and other athletic stars with low point scores is undermining morale of service men.

"These men unquestionably are qualified for getting out under the proper procedure and no exceptions are being made, I feel sure," an officer in the personnel section told a reporter.

"Even athletes can have good reasons for getting out, and it is unfortunate that persons of prominence are seized upon as receiving preferential treatment."

"We have tried very hard to avoid preferential handling of cases, and such criticism as arises usually is based on incomplete information."

"The principal trouble is that so few persons understand the various ways that a man can qualify for discharge."

The Stars and Stripes said that since the close of the football season in Honolulu, "instead of taking their place in the demobilization parade in routine fashion according to point totals, fifty-four players are scheduled to fly home to the States, some for reassignment and some for discharge."

month, Secretary Treasurer Dan Ferris said today.

Harridge Kills Rumor Clubs Will Make 1946 Baseball Hops by Plane

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—President Will Harridge, of the American League, today squelched "circulated reports" that a majority of league teams planned to make their 1946 baseball hops by airplane.

"The American League clubs definitely will not use airplanes to meet their 1946 schedule of games," Harridge asserted in a statement which he said was prompted by rumors spread early this month that railroad travel was a thing of the past for the league.

Golfs Way to Health

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Nov. 20 (AP)—So weak a month ago that he could not lift a fountain pen, Lt. William Bloom, Chicago, told today of golfing his way back to health—and cutting his score from 130 to 70 strokes for eighteen holes in two weeks.

Orioles Oppose Change of Parks

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—George W. Reed, president of the Baltimore Orioles baseball club, asserted today that "if the Orioles don't play in the stadium next year, they don't play here at all."

At a meeting before a representative of the Baltimore park board, Reed voiced the position of the Orioles in a controversy in which a committee of residents near the stadium had requested that the baseball club shift its home games to another ball park.

Representing the Orioles, together with Reed, at today's meeting were Herb Armstrong, business manager; J. Kemp Bartlett, club attorney; and Tommy Thomas, manager of the Orioles. Kirk Straub represented the park board.

Previously, the board had met with the committee representing the residents in the stadium area. The conference today was held to hear views of the club.

The Orioles officials said they could do nothing in connection with building a new stadium, since city and state officials have not committed themselves on whether they were going to build one as a memorial to the Maryland war dead.

Representatives of the Orioles and the residents were expected to meet Wednesday, November 28, in a further effort to iron out their difficulties.

Navy Line Coach To Address Local Football Teams

Edgar E. "Rip" Miller, former head coach and now line coach of the naval academy, will address members of Allegany, Fort Hill and LaSalle high school football teams at the "most valuable player" dinner December 11 at the Cumberland country club.

At the annual affair, sponsored by the Times-News papers, the most valuable player of each team will receive an award from the newspapers. Gene Gunning is in charge of arrangements.

The most valuable players will be selected by ballot by their teammates several days before the banquet but results will not be announced until the dinner.

After the announcement the first two squads of each school will battle again to select the most outstanding player of the three winners.

Miller, like many other great coaches of the day, learned his football under the immortal Knute Rockne of Notre Dame. "Rip," who held a varsity tackle job, was graduated from the South Bend school in 1925.

Miller was on the same team with the famous "Four Horsemen" of 1924 who ran wild against all opposition that year and bowled over the strong Stanford team 27 to 10 in the 1925 Rose Bowl battle.

The "Four Horsemen" included Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National Football League; Don Miller, now a highly successful midwest lawyer; Harry Stuhldreier, Wisconsin coach, and Elmer Crowley, destined to become the czar of the new All-American grid conference.

After leaving Notre Dame, Miller went to Indiana as an assistant coach under Navy Bill Ingram; at the naval academy from 1926 to 1930, with the exception of 1929 when he tutored at St. Xavier.

In 1931 he was named head coach at Annapolis, replacing Ingram. He guided Navy's grid fortunes until 1934 when the Navy instituted its graduate coaching system.

Tom Hamilton became head coach in that change and Miller became line coach, the spot he has held ever since, consistently turning out sturdy forward walls.

Chicago White Sox Send Dickshot to Hollywood

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—Johnny Dickshot, who batted .303 as left fielder for the Chicago White Sox last season, has been sent to Hollywood, of the Pacific Coast League, and Bill Nagel, part-time first baseman, has been sent back to Milwaukee, of the American Association. Vice President Harry Grainger announced tonight.

Navy Brushes Up On Fundamentals

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 20 (AP)—Coach Oscar E. Hagberg took his Navy football team back to fundamentals today in preparation for the game with Army December 1 at Philadelphia.

Practice included running, blocking, tackling, ball handling, all in the most elementary manner as though the team were starting a new season.

Hagberg said he is considering shifting a halfback into Bob Jenkins' fullback position during rehearsals as insurance against the possibility that Jenkins' knee injuries might keep him out of the big game.

Just who the halfback will be has not yet been announced.

Meanwhile, "Hunchy" Hoernschemeyer, who has suffered an arm disability similar to that of a "dead pitcher's arm," was back in practice today to see whether the rest he has had has done any good.

Last week Hagberg said Hunchy definitely would be out of the Wisconsin game and it appeared doubtful whether he would see action in the Army game.

Murray Is Banned From State Rings

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—A ruling by the state athletic commission today banned Lee Q. Murray, heavyweight boxer, from fighting again in Maryland until his injured hands are healed completely.

A commission spokesman emphasized, however, that the decree was not a suspension.

Last week, Referee Eddie Leonard stopped a bout here between Murray, South Norwalk, Conn., and Jersey Joe Walcott, Camden, N. J., then awarded the decision to Walcott after repeatedly warning Murray to mix it up.

Murray, appearing before the commission with his manager, said he was handicapped by hand injuries.

The commission advised Murray to take a rest from boxing, and to then prove by fighting in another state that he could regain his old form. Then he would be permitted to box again in Maryland, the commission said.

Billy Conn Will Be On Cantor Radio Program Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Joe Louis had a chance at the radio last Sunday night in the Jack Benny show. Now his prospective opponent in the forthcoming heavy-weight ring, Billy Conn, will have his say. It comes in the Eddie Cantor program on NBC at 9 Wednesday night when he is to visit with Eddie in the gag—not fistuffs—department.

Kay Kyser, now back in Hollywood after his trip east, is to make his NBC broadcast at 10 a part of the closing ceremonies of the "Hollywood Canteen." In doing so he will have the guest co-operation of Bette Davis, who has had an important part in the canteen's history.

Instead of one, Frank Sinatra will have two guests for his CBS effort at 9. One is Marilyn Miller, of screen and musical comedy. The other is Louis Prima, who trumpets and orchestra leads. . . . Further in the CBS guest department comes Ethel Merman, singing of the torch, in a showup with the Andrews sisters at 10:30.

If you have tuned in Best Sellers, afternoon book drama on ABC at 3 you already should have discovered that the program this week is giving attention to "The Birth of Mischief." Incidentally this series is slated to end after next week.

It will be a Thanksgiving eve concert for "Great Moments in Music" of CBS at 10. Jan Peerce, back from a tour, will be at his regular tenor microphone. Compositions typical of the season will comprise the musical display.

For 12:30 p. m. NBC has added the address of Lt. Gen. James Doolittle from the American Legion convention at Chicago.

"PRE-PEARL" MEDAL

THOSE who were serving in the armed forces prior to the Japs' sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, will receive the new American Defense Medal (closeup shown above). The new medals are being struck at the United States Mint at Philadelphia, Pa.

Rick's parents are Navy Chief Commissary Stewart and Mrs. James F. Flowers, Sr.

West Virginia Airport Aid Legislation Is Urged by Randolph

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Rep. Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.) wants the West Virginia legislature to appropriate funds for airport construction.

He wrote Gov. Clarence W. Meadows that if the Legislature is called into special session "one of the most important subjects which will probably be on the agenda" is consideration of such appropriations.

Randolph sponsored the first federal airport aid bill in Congress and is chairman of his state planning board's aviation committee.

A federal airport aid bill has been passed by the House and Senate; differences now are being worked out by a conference committee.

Woman Killed by Train

LURICH, Va., Nov. 20 (AP)—Mrs. H. H. Harless, Lurich, was fatally injured when struck by a Norfolk and Western passenger train while crossing the tracks to board another train to Bluefield, W. Va., railroad officials reported today.

Thanksgiving Day This Year Is One Of Special Import

Churches Plan Services; Stores and Offices To Be Closed

To thousands of people in Western Maryland Thanksgiving will have a special significance this year.

Throughout the entire tri-state area hundreds of families tomorrow will quietly celebrate the first peacetime Thanksgiving in four years with sons and husbands present who a scant few months ago were at battle posts in remote corners of the globe. Thanksgiving will have a special significance for these families.

Families with veterans still abroad will be thankful that unlike last year, their soldier relatives are now safe from flying shrapnel and sniper's bullets.

Perhaps the best sentiment expressing the servicemen's point of view regarding Thanksgiving came from Beckham A. Robertson, a commander on the USS Maryland who wrote to Cumberland friends:

"All of us have much to be thankful for: thankful for the present peace and for the present security; thankful that we are alive in this great world even though some of us may feel that it is a world of chaos and woe. Be that as it may, let us all bow our heads in grateful thanksgiving to the Deity for having seen fit to keep us and harbor us, even though we may not understand the reasons for His judgment."

Believe in "Goodness, God"
To millions of less fortunate people throughout the world, Western Maryland, with its fundamental beliefs in the dignity of human beings, would seem like a paradise apart from the rest of the world. An Australian curate in Seymour, near Melbourne, used to tell servicemen he invited to his library for tea that America would be blessed because its people really believed in "goodness and God."

And there is considerable evidence today that Americans are more conscious of their blessings than they were four years ago.

Headlining the list of Thanksgiving day activities in Cumberland are special church services.

Members of the First Presbyterian church and Centre Street Methodist church will conduct a joint service at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow with the Rev. Dr. Walter M. Michael preaching.

Episcopal Services Planned
The three Episcopal churches of Cumberland plan services at Emmanuel church there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 10:30 a. m. The Church of the Holy Cross on Virginia avenue will have a similar service at 10 a. m. St. Philip's chapel on South Smallwood street will have a service at 9:30 a. m.

A Union "Thanksgiving" service will be held at Ebenezer Baptist church, Cumberland street, Thursday at 10 o'clock. Co-operating churches will be the Metropolitan A. M. E. church, McKendree Methodist church and Ebenezer Baptist church. The Rev. Ramsey Bridges will preach the sermon.

"Thanksgiving in 1945" will be the theme of a special service at Kingsley Methodist church tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. Both junior and senior choirs will sing. The Rev. H. K. Kester will preach the Thanksgiving sermon.

"Thanksgiving" will be the subject at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Washington street, tomorrow at 11 a. m.

Stores Are Busy
Meanwhile, grocers reported yesterday that housewives are not neglecting plans for hearty Thanksgiving dinners. Women with long lists have been appearing in the trading marts the last two days with one of the commonest refrains being, "Now I want something nice, understand, my son has come home."

Turkeys were reported plentiful and grocers are anticipating a big last-minute demand.

In the sports line, Cumberland is looking forward with keen anticipation to the Turkey day classic between Allegany and Fort Hill high schools with the stadium on the hill completely sold out.

Special assemblies at both Allegany and Fort Hill are being held today when coaches and players will speak. Bands of both high schools were planning special selections for their respective assemblies. Students in other public schools were planning special Thanksgiving exercises prior to being dismissed at 1 o'clock.

Schools, Offices, Stores Closed
Parochial schools will also conduct special assemblies today with the prospect that pupils will be dismissed earlier than usual.

Down town Cumberland will be a dead place tomorrow with all offices and stores closed.

The post office will be closed all day Thursday with no deliveries except special deliveries. There will be no window service and no delivering on city or rural routes. Mail will be dispatched out of town as usual and mail will be distributed in post office box boxes. The post office will be open as usual Friday.

Donald Davidson, 8, Is Struck by Car

Donald Davidson, 8, Route 5, was admitted to Memorial hospital yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock for treatment of injuries suffered when he was struck by a car on Winchester road about one mile from Cresaptown.

Attaches said the boy was suffering from a deep laceration of the lip and brush burns of the entire face and back. His condition was reported as "fair."

First Sgt. John H. Doud, who investigated, identified the driver of the car as David Lechlitter, Route 1, Ridgeley, and said Lechlitter, driving a 1936 Ford coach, was traveling toward Six Mile house when the accident occurred.

The Davidson boy, Sgt. Doud was told, was playing along the road with a companion and was struck headon when he darted into the path of the oncoming car.

Charges against the driver are pending, state police said.

Lack of Knowledge Of Social Security Shown by Survey

Millhouser Explains Difference in Two Insurance Plans

Inquiries made recently by the field offices of the Social Security board in this region, show that less than half of the 200 persons interviewed, knew the difference between the two insurance plans under the Social Security act.

Many of them believed that the one per cent Social Security tax, which a wage earner pays for Old Age and Survivors insurance would entitle him to unemployment compensation benefits in case he should lose his job.

Henry M. Millhouser, manager of the Cumberland office of the Social Security board, explained that the Social Security tax which is paid by workers and employers in business and industry is collected by the federal government and placed in a trust fund from which Old Age and Survivors insurance benefits are paid.

Build Up Protection
This plan makes it possible for wage earners, during their working years, to build up advanced protection for themselves and for their families. The benefits are based on the worker's own wages in jobs that come under the law.

Unemployment compensation, which is sometimes called job insurance, is administered by the states, with federal aid and co-operation. No wage earner in Maryland and West Virginia pays any unemployment compensation tax.

The purpose of unemployment compensation is to furnish some income to insured workers, during periods when they are without work, until they can get other jobs. Payments are not equal to the worker's regular wages, but they will help tide him over until he can get back to work.

Should File Claim
Men or women covered by the law, who have lost their jobs, should call at the local United States Employment Service office, register for a job, and file claim for unemployment compensation.

Millhouser said, The Cumberland office, which services Allegany county is located at 146 Union street. The Oakland office serving Garrett county is located at 77 Third street, Oakland.

Applicants residing in West Virginia should apply at the United States Employment Service office, Keyser, which services Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral and Pendleton counties.

Claimants for Old Age and Survivors insurance benefits in all of the above counties should apply at the field office of the Social Security board, located at 308 post office building, Cumberland.

VFW Post Becomes Largest Veterans Group in Maryland

Group in Maryland Divorce Is Granted To Eckhart Woman

Henry Hart Post, No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, became the largest veterans organization in the state of Maryland last evening with the announcement that 1,505 members have been enrolled.

The post hopes to reach the 2,000 mark by April 1, 1946, which would make it the largest organization of its kind in this area.

The end of the 1944-45 period found Henry Hart Post with 1,300 members.

The report was made last night at the regular meeting of the post at 205 Union street, when thirty-eight new members, all veterans of World War II, were taken into the post.

E. G. A. Snider, chairman of the drum corps committee, reported that the first rehearsal of the group was held Monday evening. Twenty-five members, all World War II veterans have enrolled in the drum corps. The post hopes to have a 150 member corps in the near future.

The drum corps will rehearse next Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the VFW hall under the direction of Ralph L. Rizer.

Vernor J. Winner, post service officer, reported on new trades school for veterans of World War II.

An old time pig roast was held at the conclusion of the meeting. George Banzhoff and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barley were in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Thomas Morgan Sentenced to Six Months in Prison
A suspended sentence of one year in the house of correction was given to Morgan by Magistrate Bruce yesterday on a charge of unauthorized use of Burnworth's car, which they allegedly took from in front of the Algonquin hotel and drove to Baltimore. Merle was found guilty of the charge but Kenneth was acquitted.

Explaining the larceny charge, city police said yesterday that Holly is accused of taking $196 worth of clothing from the automobile of Paul Burnworth, Confucius, Pa. Holly and his brother, Merle, 21, were tried before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce in trial magistrates court November 7 on a charge of unauthorized use of Burnworth's car, which they allegedly took from in front of the Algonquin hotel and drove to Baltimore. Merle was found guilty of the charge but Kenneth was acquitted.

Merle Holly was committed to the county jail Monday in default of $1,000 bond for action of the grand jury on a charge of taking the clothing from Burnworth's car, and Kenneth is wanted by local authorities on the same charge, police said.

At yesterday's hearing, Morgan was charged with several violations of his parole since it was imposed. He was arrested Monday on a second assault charge.

Police said Morgan served a term at St. Mary's reform school at one time, and that he later deserted from the army.

Marion McCoy, negro, Washington, D. C., who has been employed here as a plasterer's helper for the past few days, was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail yesterday after a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew in trial magistrates court.

McCoy pleaded guilty to taking articles valued at $24 from a car owned by John H. Pfeiffer, Willow Brook road, an employee of the St. George Motor Company. McCoy was arrested Monday by Sgt. Raymond Johnston.

Mrs. Ruth Edmondson, Ridgeley, W. Va., was fined $10 on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct after a hearing Monday night before C. J. Phillips, justice of the peace.

John Carlyle, Romney, W. Va., was fined $15 on a similar charge after a hearing before Mayor O. R. Poling in Ridgeley.

Commissioners Say Railroad May Proceed To Raze Bridge
The board of county commissioners yesterday notified the Baltimore and Ohio railroad that the company may proceed to raze the pedestrian's bridge over the tracks from Piedmont avenue to Mechanic street. The city council took similar action Monday after the railroad requested that the bridge be repaired.

A petition signed by thirty-one residents of the area was presented to the board, asking for repairs to Lake avenue in Bowman's Addition. They said the street is in "horrible condition." The request was referred to County Engineer John H. Carscaden.

Feldstein Appeal Is Dismissed By Zoning Board

Body Denies Appeal for Occupancy Permit by William Roeder

An appeal to the board of zoning appeals by Abe Feldstein, owner of a junk yard located on Pear street near Hampton place, was dismissed by the board at its regular meeting last night because it was not a proper appeal to be heard by the board.

Feldstein filed an appeal November 5 after Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, denied him an occupancy permit to move his junk yard from its present location to the old Johnson Milling Company property on Winewest street. Rizer denied the permit because the zoning ordinance forbids the operation of junk yards within the city limits.

Bought Property in 1942
The board dismissed the case at the hearing in the council chamber at city hall last night because testimony of Feldstein and ten persons called upon by his attorney, F. Brooke Whiting, established the fact that Feldstein had purchased the Winewest street property in December, 1942, and that he had used it to store junk from that time until he entered military service early in 1943.

J. E. Wetzel, Jr., chairman of the board, pointed out that Feldstein needs no occupancy permit, since he is occupying the property for junk storage two years before the zoning ordinance was passed in November, 1944. Wetzel informed Feldstein he must apply to the mayor and city council for a license to operate a junk yard, however.

Among those testifying at the hearing were John J. McMullen, chairman of the Potomac River Commission, who sold worn-out equipment formerly used at the Savage river dam to Feldstein as junk; James W. Beacham, who negotiated the purchase of the Winewest street property when Feldstein bought it in 1942; David Miller, junk dealer; G. C. Schaubach; D. C. Martin, superintendent of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company; Norman E. Sell, William P. Roeder, Howard McCracken, Michael J. Brady and Robert Ashbaugh.

Roeder Appeal Denied
The second case to be heard last night was that of William P. Roeder, whose appeal for a permit to occupy the premises at the rear of 437 Henderson avenue, facing Bond street, for storage of motor equipment was denied by the board.

Roeder, represented by Clarence Lippel, stated that he planned to erect a garage on the property if the permit were granted, to house two trucks used in his motor transfer business, as well as equipment to repair them. Roeder's application for a permit was previously denied November 6 by Rizer.

The board denied the appeal on the ground that the premises are located in a Residential "C" zoning district.

Sixth Fund Drive Report Scheduled For Noon Today

Sixty-four per cent of goal has been subscribed, Price Reports

The sixth report meeting of the National War Fund and Community Chest campaign will be held today at noon at Central YMCA with Henry W. Price, general chairman, hopeful that today's reports will boost the campaign total to well over $90,000.

Slightly over $76,000, or sixty-four per cent of the total goal, has been subscribed so far. The campaign goal is $118,671.

Price is urging all workers to attend today's report meeting and turn in their collections. It was estimated yesterday that between $10,000 and $15,000 has been subscribed that has not as yet been turned in. The official audit will start at 11:30 a. m.

Price announced that the drive yesterday received a $500 contribution from the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company which will be turned in to the county drive.

It appeared certain yesterday that the drive would not be completed today but would be extended over the Thanksgiving holidays.

Celanese Reports Seven- teen Men with Disabilities Back at Work

Of the 4,905 Amcelle plant employees of the Celanese Corporation of America who entered the armed forces, 1,006 veterans have returned to their jobs, among them seventeen men who suffered physical disabilities during the war, company officials reported yesterday.

More than 700 of the 1,006 returned veterans have come back to their jobs this year and all of the total number have been satisfactorily placed in jobs according to the company spokesman.

While the return to jobs began at a slow pace, veterans are coming back now at the rate of 100 a week or better. This naturally, is attributed to the increased rate of discharge being followed by all of the branches of service since hostilities ended.

Some of the returning servicemen have come back to work almost immediately while others are more or less taking their time about returning to their jobs, the company said.

Even though more than 1,000 veterans have returned to their jobs, only a "limited number" of wartime employees have been laid off. Two who have lost a leg, two who have been able to absorb them," he said, adding, however, that the number of wartime employees being laid off will increase as more and more servicemen return.

The roster of injured men who have been placed in jobs includes two who have lost a leg, two who have lost one arm, two with back injuries who are required to wear a brace, four with back injuries who do not require a brace, one with a paralyzed arm, two with a partly paralyzed arm and four with the loss of one eye.

Smile Is Man's Greatest Asset, Naylor States

Declaring that the human smile is the greatest asset of man, Will Naylor, a humorist of Moravia, N. Y., and St. Petersburg, Fla., urged Rotarians yesterday to make use of it for what it is worth and make others do the same thing.

The smile is the big brother of the laugh, Naylor said, addressing the Rotarians at their weekly luncheon at Central YMCA, and it is when you can get everybody to laugh in unison that its matchless value is greatest.

The smile is the mark of selfishness, the speaker said. It is something you give away freely. Yet it brings instantaneous results and when a story or an incident can produce laughter it will accomplish what other things cannot. It represents the great sense of humor that has proved so efficacious on so many occasions in American progress and achievement and which is perhaps the nation's greatest asset.

Naylor, who for many years was managing editor of "Puck," the comic weekly, told a number of birth-provoking stories connected with his career. He deprecated the use of crime stories in comic strips, saying the continuity method introduced some twenty-five years ago had destroyed much of the old spontaneous humor on which the strips formerly were based.

One can find great pleasure in life, the speaker declared, by reading clean literature, listening to the music of the old masters and, above all, by furthering the great American sense of humor.

The speaker, who was celebrating his seventy-first birthday as he talked, retired from newspaper work several years ago. His long career included that of a humorous poet, a columnist, an editor and a publisher.

Guests included Park W. T. Loy, Hagerstown; John R. Watson and T. Earl Krietzberg, Frostburg; and Samuel S. Sussler, Meyersdale, Pa.

The ex officio trustees of the fund are Edgar A. Dashiell, president of the board of education, and Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

Memorial Hospital Finishes Biggest Year of Service

Institution Operated at Ninety Per Cent of Capacity

The report of Memorial hospital for the fiscal year ending September 30 reveals that the hospital has just completed the biggest year in its history from the standpoint of service to the community.

The hospital admitted 6,064 patients and 830 expectant mothers, making a total number of 6,894, admissions, Benjamin Wright, superintendent, announced.

Patient days of care provided totaled 60,774 adults and 9,707 newborn children, making a total of 70,481 patient days.

Remained Ten Days
The average length of stay of patients was ten days.

"This report means that we have operated at about ninety per cent total capacity for the entire year," Wright said.

The average patient day revenue was $5.72, while the average patient day cost was $4.75, one of the lowest average cost rates of any hospital in the state.

A total of 3,267 operations were performed during the year. The number of patients treated in the dispensary totaled 13,227 and 23,585 laboratory studies were made.

X-ray diagnostic studies totaled 3,094; X-ray treatments 2,591 and physical therapy treatments, 1,124.

Plans Insured
The boost in the number of treatments given at the dispensary this year over preceding years is due to the new plan inaugurated last spring to give the public more opportunity to make use of the dispensary facilities. Under the plan, staff physicians are allowed to send patients from their private practices to the dispensary for treatment.

Company and Union Report No Change In Kelly Strike

Local Work Stoppage Will Enter Fourth Week This Evening

Prospects seemed dismal last evening for any developments over the Thanksgiving holidays in the strike at the Kelly-Spangler Tire Company here which will begin its fourth week this evening.

Ralph C. Beard, president of Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America, CIO, representing the more than 1,900 production workers at the local tire plant, said there was no change in the situation and added he saw no signs of any early developments.

No Progress Reported
A company spokesman confirmed the lack of progress in the strike which began October 31 after workers walked out of the plant at the end of an unsuccessful wage negotiation conference.

The strike action followed an NLRB strike vote but preceded a formal strike vote by the union. The rubber workers, however, voted overwhelmingly November 4 to continue the walkout.

Herbert Dawson, District 1 URWA representative, who spoke at a November 4 meeting, urged the local rubber employees to return to work and recommended that Local 26 hold the NLRB strike vote in abeyance to await concerted action by all thirteen Goodyear locals.

A meeting of the local last Sunday was described as "routine" and no attempt to settle the dispute was taken after the negotiating committee reported on an unsuccessful company-union conference.

No Meeting Planned
Union officials said they have had no word this week from James A. Holden, federal conciliator, who is attempting to settle the dispute. There are no definite plans for any meetings, a union official said.

Harley V. Brown, district URWA representative, left yesterday for Akron and will return here later this week, union officials said.
